Application Design for ISKCON Organisation

About the project: ISKCON arrange many events to connect people and promote art, before peoples were invited to the events at temple or private events arranged at their home through word of mouth, WhatsApp, text messages. Vrinda is a platform which will inform users of upcoming events so they can check the event details and join the event through the app.

We worked on this project to comprehend the needs of the user and stakeholders, design the workflow, and provide a working prototype with high-fidelity screens. We also worked on the application's branding.
